Masonic Homes of Kentucky Honors Employee of Year

Shane DeWitt was named Masonic Homes of Kentucky's 2009 Employee of the Year.

DeWitt works in the maintenance department on the Masonic Homes of Kentucky's Louisville campus as a carpenter. For four years, he has maintained the grounds on the Louisville property, answered service calls and provided support to the residents.

"If there's a problem, Shane doesn't hesitate to fix it," said Maintenance Director Mel Beam. "He knows every inch of the Louisville campus and knows what needs to be done to keep it fully operational."

DeWitt was one of more than 150 employees honored by Masonic Homes of Kentucky at its annual Above & Beyond Employee Appreciation Celebration.

Vice President of Mission Advancement Phyllis O'Daniel was honored for 20 years of service to Masonic Homes. Maintenance Director Mel Beam, Maintenance Assistant Jerry Blessitt and Security Guard Michael Hedges received 10 year service pins.
